A Hidden Gem: The Facial Bungalow in West Hollywood

June 6, 2013

I get SO excited when I discover something really FAB that most people don't know about and then I get the pleasure of sharing it with you! Allow me to introduce you the Facial Bungalow, an intimate salon/spa nestled in a hidden location in West Hollywood that offers gorgeous customized skincare treatments. The space is cozy, inviting and so relaxing that you'll be tempted to spend the whole afternoon there!

Trina Renea is the radiant and affable owner of the Facial Bungalow and a seasoned skincare professional who has worked as a medical esthetician for years honing her talents. Being on the leading edge of the skin care industry is of the utmost importance to Trina and because of this, many loyalists refer to her as a skin master. Trina also has an enthusiastic passion for cosmetic chemistry and product knowledge and she worked with some of the best chemists in the industry creating her own fabulous skincare line called Trina Renea Skincare.

Trina and I instantly hit it off, talking all things beauty! She did a thorough pre-facial consultation to determine the products and treatments that would be best suited to my skin type and she created a wonderful customized treatment to hydrate and rejuvenate my skin. Here's a recap of the Platinum Facial with an add-on Pumpkin Peel that she indulged me with:

- My facial started with a thorough cleanse using a Clarisonic brush for deep cleaning
- Then an almost edible Pumpkin peel for brightening and exfoliation
- Next, thorough and skillful extractions to clean my pores
- A serum to calm and put water back into my skin
- Then a rejuvenating Aloe mask with high frequency to give my skin oxygen and kill bacteria
- Followed by a fabulous cocktail of Trina Renea special antioxidant serums and Minimeyes (Trina's AMAZEBALLS anti-aging serum)
- Then a moisturizer for sensitive skin and the Jan Marini Anti-Oxidant Daily Face Protection SPF 30
- Last a pump of Colorescience Skin Bronzing Primer SPF 20 to give my skin a golden glow

Sounds kinda FAB, right? Well, it was and my skin glowed for days afterwards. I highly rec treating yourself to a facial with Trina, your skin will thank you.
